About KEA Boxing Promotions

KEA Boxing began in 1992 by offering training and management to both new and existing professional fighters looking to create a career for themselves. At that time, Andre Kut had already paid his dues at various levels in the sport that would be his cornerstone to guiding these hopefuls. KEA fighters have gone on to fight throughout the United States, Mexico, South America, and Europe. KEA Fighters have been showcased on Tuesday Night Fights, Fox Sports, ESPN, Showtime, HBO and Pay Per View. KEA fighters have fought for world titles and have been ranked by Sanctioning Boxing Associations. For more information, visit www.kea-boxing.com.

About KEA Boxing Events

KEA Boxing Promotions has presented events in New Jersey, South Carolina, and Pennsylvania for over the past five years. Shows can draw 1,000 fans and up, and it's not only a boy's night out. Females have been taking an increased interest in boxing and KEA Boxing Promotions delivers with female bouts that are sure to get the crowd riled up. The shows have undoubtedly caught the eye of the press and KEA's most recent event at The Woodlands Inn & Resort drew press coverage from The Weekender, The Times-Leader, and The Scranton Times as well as 98.5 WKRZ and 107.9 WKRF. Notable Celebrities such as Joe Frazier, Chuck Wepner, Bobby Czyz, Mickey Ward, and others have been known to make appearances at KEA's shows.
